DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's arguments, filed 1/18/2011, have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive. Rejections and/or objections not reiterated from previous office actions are hereby withdrawn. The following rejections and/or objects are either reiterated or newly applied. They constitute the complete set presently being applied to the instant application.

Response to Arguments

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be necatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

- Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
- 2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
- Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
- Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

The rejection of claim 28 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 6086851 ('851) is maintained.

Art Unit: 1618

Applicant argues that '851 does not teach "preparing said phospholipid gel by spontaneously forming said phospholipid gel by mixing said neutral phospholipid and said negatively charged phospholipid in water and optionally incorporating said pharmacologically active substance".

Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but are not found persuasive. The method of instant claim 28 requires "topically administering a phospholipid gel, consisting of a neutral phospholipid, a negatively charged phospholipid, water, and optionally a pharmaceutically active substance that is a steroid; a non-steroidal antiphlogistic agent; an antibiotic; an antioxidant; or an antiepileptic, to the skin or mucous membrane." '851 teaches topically administering a phospholipid gel, consisting of a first phospholipid (col 2, lines 29-43), a second phospholipid (col 2, lines 43-37), and an inducer, such as antibiotic agents (col 2, lines 49-56). '851 fails to explicitly teach a combination wherein the first phospholipid is a neutral phospholipid and the second phospholipid is a negatively charged phospholipid, but it would have been obvious to make this selection, for the reasons given in the previous office action. Thus, '851 renders obvious a method of topically administering a phospholipid gel, consisting of a first neutral phospholipid, a second negatively charged phospholipid, water, and an antibiotic agent (optionally a pharmaceutically active substance that is... an antibiotic). '851 teaches forming the phospholipid gel by mixing the first phospholipid, second phospholipid, and antibiotic agent (inducer) in water which satisfies the limitation "preparing said phospholipid by spontaneously forming said phospholipid gel by mixing said neutral phospholipid and said negatively charged phospholipid in water and optionally incorporating said pharmacologically active substance." '851 teaches that phospholipid interdigitation occurs when these three ingredients are mixed, and such interdigitation is spontaneous formation, even though it requires the addition of the inducer.
